- Why it isn't bad behaviour.
- Sensory overload and triggers
- Repair and connect
- What is masking and how to support.

This is for parents with a child who is mostly fine in school all day and but comes home and behaves very differently. Trying to understand, console and support can be challenging.

If you would like more information, please come to an informal meeting to help with this and give you some useful tips going forward. It will be a chance also to meet other parents and to share experiences. (If you wish to do so, no pressure!)
